

Day 3

The morning crafts started if you want to pop in you can paint rock. Messages are being put on the rock which will be placed out in the community.

Squarer dancers always lending a helping hand. This dancer is holding 2 pencils as these ladies are making dust mops. Neal said they tried to get him to make one. He was concern that would mean he would need to use it!! He got out of there quick!!

Nancy & Ted Kennedy bring the sazziness!!!

Shenanigan after the dance!!!

Barbara Rosenthal made her outfit. Loved the embroidery work on the skirt. Barbara had 100 outfits she has downsized now she only has 75. I have a ways to go!!!

A special thanks to Susan Snyder she won on Tuesday night the 50/50 and donated her winning to the Quilts of Valor. Mark Fetzner won Wednesday night the 50/50 he donated his winning to the Shriners. How wild that husband & wife one 2 nights in a row.

How cute are Doris & Neal Snider on their electric bike! They lost power last night the breaker on the pole went out. At 3 am Neal is crawling around the ground. They had the power company out to see if they could get it fixed. The electrician was not working today so thank goodness Neal is an electrician he ended up replacing the breaker at the post. The wild part is my husband is also an electrician & his name is spelled the same way What a small world!!

I crocheted seat covers for the picnic table. If you would like to be in the drawing please put your name in for a chance to win. These take a long time to make and I want to make sure that whoever gets them that they will use them. They work great especially after it rains and the picnic seat bench is wet.

Ozzie is hosting a nice smokeless fire after the dance! So plan on bringing a camp chair and join the next fire - weather permitting.
