

Snooper Side Note

This was sent to me by caller Mike Gormley. I think we've all experienced the Louisiana roads and understand ...

I've heard it said that driving an RV is like being in a hurricane during an earthquake.

From Mike:

Due to rough and undulating Louisiana roads.

All my square dance shirts which hung on the shower rod. And a few dinner plates that were not happy in their prison and decided to break out. Shards smaller than grains of sand.
